Grave-Digger Held, Admits Mailing Note

New York (AP) — A 61-year-old grave digger was arrested last night on a charge of mailing a threatening letter to Arnold Schuster, who was slain after identifying Willie Sutton.

The FBI said it had taken William Brinckerhoff Brown of the Hollis section into custody under the Federal extortion statute.

It said he sent an unsigned letter to the 24-year-old Schuster, who was killed near his Brooklyn home March 8.

The FBI said Brown admitted mailing a letter to Schuster last Feb. 22 saying:

"Your days are numbered for being a squealer on Willie Sutton."

Sutton was the country's most wanted bank robber when Schuster pointed him out to police Feb. 18.

The arrest of Brown was the first major break in the Schuster slaying—a case in which the Schuster family and police have been harassed by tips and threats via letters and phone.

Various people connected with Sutton's arrest and Schuster's slaying have been given police guards.

Brown will be arraigned before a U.S. commissioner today.

His arrest came on the eve of Sutton's trial on a charge of holding up a Queens branch of the Manufacturers Trust Co. in 1950—a $64,000 job.

The trial has been overshadowed by Schuster's assassination.

The 51-year-old Sutton, hunted for five years after he escaped a Pennsylvania prison, was caught after Schuster noticed him on a subway.

The youth followed Sutton and pointed him out to police. He had memorized Sutton's picture from an FBI poster in his father's clothing store.

Then, less than three weeks later, Schuster was shot down a few doors from his Brooklyn home.

Police theorized that he was killed either by a pal of Sutton or by a crackpot who hated informers or who idolized the bank robber and prison escapee.

Schuster had received 11 threatening letters before his death. One accurately predicted he would be killed March 8.

Rewards of $38,000 have been offered for information leading to the killer.

The FBI said Brown's letter to Schuster was mailed from New York, postmarked Feb. 22.

Mrs. Michaud Tries Suicide

Flagstaff, Ariz. (AP) — A roulette-playing, song-writing Reno divorcee tried to commit suicide yesterday in the jail cell where she was held as a key figure in the $1,500,000 Redfield burglary.

Sheriff J. Peery Francis said Mrs. Marie Jeanne D'Arc Michaud swallowed a large number of sleeping pills which she had hidden from officers who had searched her.

The 36-year-old brunette screamed in French and English in her cell and then lapsed into a stupor.

She slept most of the day, and a physician said her condition was not serious.

Contractors Given Go-Ahead For Commercial Buildings Provided There Is No Steel Strike

Washington (AP) — The government told contractors yesterday to go ahead with new commercial building, starting on July 1—provided there isn't a steel strike—because there are now "substantial" steel, copper, and aluminum stocks on hand.

The word of the building relaxation came from Manly Fleischmann, head of the Defense Production Administration (DPA). So did word of warning about the threatening steelworkers' walk-out, now set for Sunday midnight. He said the substantial amounts of metals were on hand for the second half of 1952.

Fleischmann said new building relaxations will not be extended to include building of homes.

Of the hitherto scarce materials, major increases in allotments will go to highway, school, and hospital buildings.

Internal Revenue Collector Ousted For Irregularity In Own Income Tax Returns

Washington, (AP)—Monroe D. Dowling was ousted as an internal revenue collector in New York City yesterday because of what officials called an irregularity in one of his personal income tax returns.

He was the eighth collector to get the ax in the current investigation of scandals in the nation's tax collecting service, and the third in the New York City area.

Dowling, a Negro, was appointed by President Truman last August to take over from another ousted collector, James W. Johnson, and conduct a housecleaning in the revenue district embracing Upper Manhattan. Johnson is also a Negro.

In the Upper Manhattan district, one of the biggest sources of tax revenue in the country, several employees had been fired, suspended or indicted for irregularities when Dowling got the $11,500-a-year job. A Federal grand jury and a House subcommittee are investigating.

Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap, in announcing that the

21 Servicemen Leap From Flaming Plane; Two Killed, One Other Reported Missing

Dallas, (AP)—Twenty-one servicemen parachuted out of a blazing two-engine Marine transport plane on the outskirts of the city yesterday. Two were killed, another was missing.

The body of one man was found in an open field with his parachute open. A lieutenant commander was critically injured when his parachute dragged him along a suburban street. He died in a Dallas hospital.

The Dallas Morning News identified the two dead as Navy Lt. Comdr. Lewis Joseph Garfield, of Downey, Calif., and Marine Cpl. Carl L. Ductor, of the Second Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point, N. C.

Witnesses said the parachute of a third man didn't blossom open. Officers searched for his body after dark.

Surface winds at the time of the accident were 22 miles an hour, with gusts to 28.

Passengers aboard the plane began bailing out after the left engine caught fire. The pilot was the last to jump. He left after the engine fell off the R5-C transport.

The craft, carrying five crew members, was enroute from the El Toro, Calif., Marine base to Cherry Point, N. C., and had Army, Navy, Marine and Air Force personnel aboard. It was attached to headquarters, Second Marine Air Wing, Cherry Point.

The pilot, Capt. R. C. Wesley, Pensacola, Fla., bailed out at about 500 feet when the plane was in a screaming dive.

"The engine caught fire about 15 miles southeast of Dallas," Wesley said. "I alerted everyone to put on his chute, then turned back to Hensley field (near Dallas). When I saw the fire spread I ordered everybody out."

"Before everybody could bail out, the engine fell off."

"I tried to steer the plane into an open field, then bailed out at about 500 feet. She was in a screaming curve when I left. I landed about a half block from the plane."

Truman Book Stirs New Controversy

Washington (AP) — President Truman stirred up new controversy with two of his former Cabinet members by the publication last night of a book in which he says among other things that there is no indispensable man in a democracy.

Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina termed "absolutely untrue" a Truman story that he roundly scolded Byrnes in 1946 when the latter was secretary of state.

Henry A. Wallace, the former vice president, said that if Truman ever acknowledges that a "Mr. X" referred to in the book is Wallace, "I shall charge him with the same deliberate character assassination which he finds so despicable in others." From the book's context, it is apparent that "Mr. X" is Wallace.

In connection with his statement that there is no indispensable man in a democracy, Truman says he has worked to organize the government so that it could function efficiently no matter who is president.

"I do not believe the fate of the nation should depend upon the life or health or welfare of any one man," he says in an interview in the widely-heralded new book, "Mr. President."

Truman said in an accompanying memo that the book is not "a political act," but his friend and biographer, Jonathan Daniels, saw it as "the best and perhaps the only evidence yet available that Truman will not run again." Daniels is editor of the Raleigh, N.C. News and Observer.

The new book is by William Hillman, former Hearst newsman now a radio commentator. Truman collaborated in it even beyond the author's fondest dreams. He turned over reams of his diary entries, notes and memoirs and gave Hillman exclusive interviews. Thus the volume gives an unprecedented view of a president's private papers while he is still in office.

Controversy broke out even before formal publication. Some copies of the book were distributed in advance, and word of it reached Byrnes and Wallace.

The volume also contains criticism of Bernard M. Baruch and John L. Lewis, but neither man could be reached for comment. Baruch was understood to be at his plantation near Georgetown, S. C. Lewis' office said the Mine Workers' chief was out of Washington but declined to say where he could be reached.

The book discloses Truman's informal thoughts on such a wide range of topics as:

Corruption in government ("There would be no corruption if it were not for the corrupters"); Fendegastism (the Missouri boss was a clear thinker whose word was better than "the contracts of most businessmen"); and "flaws" in the U. S. Constitution (it makes no provision to fill a vacancy in the vice presidency).

He took pains to put the President on record six months after the close of World War Two as vigorously opposed to "babbling" the Soviets.

It has him favoring limits on the service of senators and representatives to cure those "terrible legislative diseases"—senility and seniority.

It quotes his "terrible" fears that a third world war was imminent on two occasions in the last four years.

The President speaks of wishing to lecture on problems of government from "precinct worker to president" when he leaves the White House.

Though the book is packed with much that is new, it still represents a selection of materials. Hence it is noteworthy for its omissions as well as for what it says.

It makes no mention of many "incidents" seized upon by critics over the years, such as the firing of Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson in another Cabinet row, the resignation of Harold L. Ickes as secretary of the interior, the "hot" letter, and apology, to the Marines, etc.

Some Truman associates who saw advance copies say it can be interpreted either as a swan song, or a fresh call to political arms. Either way, it can be used as a campaign document if administration Democrats so choose.

Truce Talks Center On Entry Ports

Munsan, Korea, Tuesday (AP)—Korean truce negotiators center today on a designation of 10 ports of entry and a promised clarification of the Communist views on exchange of prisoners.

The Allies yesterday presented a list of five entry ports for each side through which troop replacements and supplies would move during an armistice, and which would be open to neutral inspection.

South Korean cities listed were the Communist capital of Pyongyang, Sinuiju, Chongjin, Namhung and Manpojin. South Korean cities of Seoul, Pusan, Taegu, Kusan and Kangnung were suggested.

The Reds have agreed on all the North Korean cities except Pyongyang. Instead they want Sinuiju, 40 miles north of Pyongyang in northwest Korea. In the south they were agreed only on Pusan and Incheon, the port for Seoul.

Allies staff officers insisted that airfields and seaports in the vicinity of each city should be open for neutral inspection. The Reds objected.

Slaying Held Justifiable

St. Louis (AP) — A verdict of justifiable homicide was returned yesterday in the slaying of a married airlines official by a pretty stewardess who had been dating. But the stewardess still faces the threat of prosecution.

Twenty-year-old Betty Lou Tracy, green eyed and brown haired, was ordered held for grand jury action in the shooting late Sunday of Lawrence E. Keil, 43, the father of three children. The order was issued by Prosecuting Attorney Stanley Wallach of St. Louis county.

Miss Tracy, who made no statement at a coroner's inquest, said earlier in a signed statement that she shot Keil because he had threatened to torture her and take her life. She said just before the shooting he told her he intended to kill her and was not going to marry her.

Shot six times through the body, Keil was found in his car parked outside the door of the apartment Miss Tracy shared with three other stewardesses in suburban Overland. He was superintendent of stations for Ozark air lines, the company employing Miss Tracy.

McCarran Raps Newbold Morris

Washington (AP) — The chairman of the Senate Judiciary committee yesterday accused Newbold Morris of "utter disrespect of Congress" and said he will never vote to give Morris subpoena powers for his investigation of government wrongdoing.

Senator McCarran (D-Nev.) said Morris' outburst before a Senate subcommittee last week, in which the New York lawyer cried that the New York lawyer cried that some senators had "diseased minds" showed "utter disrespect of Congress and the people of the United States, of which Congress is the representative."

McCarran's committee meets today to consider President Truman's request that Morris be given authority to summon witnesses and seize documents in his anti-corruption probe.

Fifth Of 28th Division Men To Be Released In April

Washington, (AP)—About one-fifth of the enlisted men called to active duty in September, 1950, with the 28th National Guard Division (Pa.) will be released next month.

The Army said yesterday about one-fifth of the remainder will be released each month after that until all the men called then are out of uniform.

The release are the result of an Army plan, announced last month, to put replacements into the division to keep it in fighting shape. The Army said it felt the effectiveness of the unit would be endangered if all the men were released after 24 months active duty—as earlier planned. The division is now in Europe.

The Army set up a system whereby these National Guardsmen would be phased out of the division in equal monthly installments of one-fifth. The releasing will start for one-fifth of the men who are in their 20th month of active duty.

Most officers in the 28th will not be effected by this release plan. They will have to serve their required 24 months.

How each individual will fare in the release depends on how badly he's needed and when he can be replaced.

If other basis for letting a man out is needed, consideration will be given to: Length of World War Two service, whether he might have had combat service in Korea, and dependency and hardship.

May Draft Quota Fixed

Washington, (AP)—The Army and Marine Corps will draft another 19,000 men in May, the Defense department announced yesterday.

The Army will get 15,000 of the men, the Marines 4,000. The call for 19,000 is the same number due to be drafted in April.

The May draft will bring to 913,430 the number of young men drafted or called to duty with the armed services since the resumption of Selective Service in September, 1950. Men 18½ through 25 are now subject to the draft.

The Army's share of this number is 832,000, the Marines 81,430. For some months before the April call, the Defense department had been inducting a considerably larger number of men. In March, another 28,600 were drafted.

The Air Force and the Navy have been relying on recruiting volunteers to meet their manpower needs.

General Does Not Plan To Quit His Post

(By the Associated Press)

New moves to bring Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower home from Europe erupted in the nation's capital and abroad yesterday and the general himself put the issue up to President Truman.

Eisenhower sent a message to a congressional group saying he doesn't plan to quit his post as supreme Allied commander in Europe in the immediate future "in the absence of a compelling call" to political duty "or relief by higher authority."

Truman, obviously the "higher authority" in this case, has said he won't relieve Eisenhower unless the general asks him to do so.

In his letter, Eisenhower also hit at the idea that he is "indispensable" in Europe. He said he could turn over his job to others anytime.

On Capitol Hill, the Senate Foreign Relations committee postponed a showdown on asking Eisenhower back to testify on the Truman administration's $7,900,000,000 foreign aid program.

In Paris, former ECA Chief Paul G. Hoffman said he talked politics with the general over the weekend and urged him to "come home whenever he can with a clear conscience, whether this be tomorrow or in May."

Hoffman said Eisenhower gave him no answer.

Elsewhere on the political front:

Truman—President Truman, vacationing in Florida, called in his top political chief, Chairman Frank McKinney of the Democratic National committee, for a two-day conference, possibly to talk over whether he will run again. It was their first meeting since Mr. Truman was defeated in the New Hampshire primary.

Taft — Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio, opening a final two-week bid for Wisconsin's 30 delegate votes at the Republican national convention, told a rally at Plattville, Wisconsin:

"The fundamental difference between our two political parties is the issue of liberty versus socialism. Unless we change the course the government has followed in the last 20 years, we're going to continue to slide slowly toward socialism."

Kefauver—Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, the man who beat Truman in the New Hampshire primary, told a news conference in New York that his political finances are a "big worry." He said he was going to confer with Nathan Straus, philanthropist who heads the Kefauver campaign finance committee. He said Straus is "doing the best he can."

White House May Be Finished For Juliana's Visit

Key West, Fla. (AP) — President Truman received word yesterday that the rebuilt White House will be ready in time for the American visit of Queen Juliana of the Netherlands.

The visiting Queen and her prince consort will be the guests of President and Mrs. Truman April 2, 3 and 4.

There had been every indication during the past several days that workmen were making sufficient progress to raise the hope that the Queen would be the first official guest at the renovated mansion on which more than 5 million dollars has been spent.

95,000 March In Irish Parade

New York (AP) — Wave on wave of Irish—and the not-so-Irish—turned Fifth Ave. into a surging sea of green yesterday. 'Twas New York's 190th annual St. Patrick's day parade.

An estimated 95,000 trod the avenue, heaving to the green traffic line painted down its center again this year.

Police said a million and a half lined the avenue, clogging its broad sidewalks, cheering the marchers and the bands, wearing o' the green themselves though they've never been close to Ireland than the Staten I. feffy takes you.

Fish, Game Stocking To Be Discussed

Mountainhome — Pocono Mountain Sportsmen's association will meet in Vogt's restaurant here Thursday at 8 p. m. for a thorough study of game and fish stocking in Barrett Township.

Two game protectors, Paul L. Falter, Mount Pocono and John Dooling, Stroudsburg, and Fish Warden Floyd Bachman will be present to participate in the discussions on stocking and wildlife conservation.

Land and water available for state stocking and, therefore, public usage will be one of the important topics for discussion.

The Barrett meeting is in keeping with a policy of the association to stage sportsmen's rallies in regions outside their regular headquarters in Stroudsburg.

Barrett Assessments Range From 5 To 90 Per Cent Of Sale Values

By Leonard Randolph

Assessment percentages in Barrett township during 1951 ranged from a minimum 5 per cent to a maximum 90 per cent of market value. These percentages were established on 49 typical sales made during the year.

The average real estate assessment was set at 17 per cent of the market value of properties sold on the basis of a total $443,000 in sales and an assessed valuation of $78,685.

Barrett started the year off with its lowest assessment percentage. This 5 per cent assessment was set on a $14,000 Mountainhome cottage which had an assessed value of only $750.

Three additional sales made during January followed close on the heels of the "low" percentage. These three: a $10,000 Mountainhome property, assessed at $650; two $1,500 Mountainhome tracts of land, each assessed at $100 were assessed at 6 per cent of value.

A $100 assessment was set on a $1,000 tract of land, 10 per cent of the value; a $500 lot at Mountainhome was assessed at $100 or 20 per cent and a $2,000 lot was assessed at $300 or 15 per cent of value.

The high assessment percentage for 1951 was also established during the month of January. At that time, a $1,000 tract (.84 acres) near Canadensis was assessed at $900 or 90 per cent of its value.

A Canadensis cottage, sold in February for $11,500, was assessed at $700 or 6 per cent of value. Two properties were assessed at 10 per cent. Both were land sales near Canadensis. The first sold for $1,000; the second for $500. A $7,000 cottage near Canadensis was assessed at $600 or 8 per cent of its value.

One Canadensis property (.79 acres of land) sold during February for $17,000 and was assessed at $1,850 or 11 per cent; a $4,000 cottage was assessed at $500 or 12 per cent; a $1,500 tract of land was assessed at $250 or 16 per cent and a $2,000 Cresco tract of land was assessed at $360 or 18 per cent of its market value.

A $5,500 summer cottage at Buck Hill was assessed at $2,700 in March, 1951. This was 49 per cent of the property's market value. At the same time, a $2,000 tract of land complete with house, was assessed at $300 or 15 per cent of the value. A $2,000 property near Canadensis was assessed at $450 or 23 per cent and a $500 five-acre tract was as-essed at $100 or 20 per cent of the market value.

In May a $12,000 property at Buck Hill Falls was assessed at $2,100 or 18 per cent of the sale price. Three other properties were assessed at 20 per cent or lower. These were a $500 Cresco lot, assessed at $100 or 20 per cent; a $1,500 Cresco tract of land, assessed at $200 or 13 per cent and a $13,500 Buck Hill cottage, assessed at $2,000 or 15 per cent. A $10,000 cottage near Cresco was assessed at $2,300 or 23 per cent of its value. A $3,000 tract of land near Mountainhome was assessed at $750 or 25 per cent.

The "low" percentage for May and June was set on a $22,000 cottage near Canadensis which was assessed at $1,400 or 6 per cent of its market value.

The only property sold during July for which assessment figures are available was a $25,000 seventy-five acre tract near Canadensis for which an assessment of $2,000 or 8 per cent of value was established.

A $3,000 property at Buck Hill Falls was assessed at $700 or 23 per cent of its market value in the first month of the three-month period, August-September-October. A second property, located at Buck Hill Falls sold for $7,000 and was assessed at $1,250 or 18 per cent of its market value.

During this time, a property assessment which may be indicated as an "extreme" case occurred. This assessment was set on a $2,000 sale of two lots at Buck Hill. The assessment was $2,700 which would mean a percentage of 135 per cent. There are, however, indications that the lots may have been assessed as a part of a larger area of land. The $2,700 assessment may have been established on the original tract. In such cases, the original assessment does not apply.

During the last two months of 1951 four Barrett township property sales were assessed at 10 per cent or under. The lowest of these was the 6 per cent assessment set on a $31,000 commercial property at Canadensis which was assessed at only $1,900. A $9,500 "new house" near Mountainhome was assessed at $650 or 7 per cent of its value. A $13,500 Mountainhome house was assessed at $1,100 or 8 per cent and a $1,000 tract of land near Cresco was assessed at $100 or 10 per cent of value.

A Canadensis house which sold for $6,500 was assessed at $800 or 12 per cent of its value; a $14,500 Mountainhome house was assessed at $1,950 or 13 per cent; a $42,000 commercial property in Mountainhome was assessed at $6,025 or 14 per cent and two properties—a $12,000 commercial property in Cresco with an assessment of $1,950 and a $2,500 Cresco lot assessed at $400—were assessed at 16 per cent of their market value.

Two Barrett properties were assessed at 20 per cent; both were $500 tracts of land near Cresco with an assessment of $100 each. A $10,000 Canadensis property had an assessed value of $2,100 or 21 per cent of value while a $100,000 commercial property at Mountainhome was assessed at $28,950 or 29 per cent of its value.

A $5,000 Buck Hill home was assessed at $1,500 or 30 per cent of its value and a $4,500 home in the same area was assessed at $1,500 or 33 per cent of its market value.

Two Barrett township properties were assessed at 60 per cent during the closing months of 1951. The first of these was a $500 tract of land (new house)

WHAT ARE TODAY'S FACTS ABOUT NEW CAR ENGINES AND POWER STEERING?

LAST YEAR Chrysler introduced its new FirePower V-8 engine, and America's first passenger-car full-time power steering. Both new ideas "took hold" in a big way.

Today, others are announcing "new engines" and "power steering" . . . but with some basic differences worth keeping in mind if you're buying a new car.

First: about "new engines." The fact is, a really new engine design happens only once in a great while. It did happen in the FirePower V-8. Its 180 h.p. was only incidental to its basic new design. Its key idea is a hemispherical combustion chamber, which makes even non-premium gasoline develop more usable power than other designs can get from premium fuel.

Only Chrysler engineering has so far mastered this design. Several cars do have some power increase, in terms of previous designs. The important fact is that FirePower is not a "warmed-over" engine, but brand new in performance, construction, and efficiency.

In power steering, too, there are basic differences.

Chrysler uses hydraulic power, always in effect, to do two things. First, it does 4/5 the steering work as you turn the wheel. Second, we've cut the amount of wheel turn needed by over 1/3.

Parking or cruising, you get more and easier control than ever before. In sand, snow, or ruts, the hydraulic power is always there to keep the front wheels from "steering back" at you. You get the same amount and feel of control all the time . . . full-time ease and full-time safety.

Actually, the differences, both in engine performance and in steering safety and ease are impossible to put in words . . . but just as impossible not to feel the moment you get into a Chrysler and drive it! Why not see your Chrysler dealer and do that, soon?

Cross-Section Of Opinion On Income Taxes

The Question: What is your opinion of the present system of Federal income taxation? Do you feel the taxes are fair?

The Place: Offices and shops in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg.

The Answers:

Mrs. Russell Smith, 513 Phillips St., retail sales clerk: "I'm not as much concerned about the income tax as I am about property taxes. Income tax isn't too bad, for myself. It has gone up quite a bit, though."

Carl T. Secor, supervising principal, of East Stroudsburg public schools: "I don't mind paying my income tax since it makes it possible for me to live in a democracy. I'd much rather live in America and pay income tax than to go into Russia and not pay any."

Max Stadfeld, manager Penney's: "Paying income tax doesn't mean much anymore. When you come to the deadline it's already paid. Most of the headache has been taken out of income tax today."

C. Edward DePuy, Stroudsburg attorney: "I think the percentage is too high. The burden of the tax is falling on the middle-man and the lower-paid workers. There ought to be more direct taxes. I think the whole basis of taxation ought to be re-vamped and restudied — and taxes ought to be simplified."

"Originally the income tax was used to raise money in an emergency. At that time it fell mostly on the higher brackets. As the years have gone by, exemptions have gotten so low that nearly everyone is paying income tax."

"Instead of raising taxes on income, additional tax money should be gotten at the source—manufactured products. I'm not in favor of a direct sales tax, however, because the cost of administration and collection would make it prohibitive."

Eleanor Brown, 416 Main St., retail sales clerk: "I'm more concerned about personal taxes than I am about income tax. By personal taxes I mean borough taxes and school taxes. Mine are set pretty high."

Dr. R. J. Batory, 1004 W. Main St., Stroudsburg: "I don't object to paying income tax, but since I'm paying it, I'll make this provision: I have a right to expect to know how it's being used."

"We can't expect to run a government without expenditures. We're still a free country, therefore, we have the right to establish an income tax and use it primarily for domestic purposes and secondarily, certainly, for foreign relief."

Joseph J. McCluskey, Stroudsburg attorney: "Well — we pay them. But we must realize that the government needs a lot more money today than it did in the past. I look at Point Four, the Marshall Plan or ECA as a form of insurance. We need allies. One of the big reasons for the government needing more money is that the costs of armaments have gone up so much. Then too, we have a greater number in the armed services and they're spread out all over the world."

"The taxes are high in dollars, but I think that this money is buying a form of insurance. As a veteran I might say that I'm willing to pay higher taxes if it will help the men in Korea."

Franklin Weller Jr., manager, of Dean Phipps store, Stroudsburg: "Foreign assistance raises our income tax so high. We're making people overseas lazy by sending so much assistance to them. The costs falls right back on the American people."

"I still feel, however, that the tax is necessary for our own use in defense."

County Voting Rolls Decline 728 Since Last Election

Democrats Lose 670, GOP, 44

Although this is a general election year there are 728 fewer registered voters than last year, Chief Clerk Harry Taylor said yesterday.

Total county registration is 16,379, compared with last year's 17,107.

None of the six voting groups, including Republicans and Democrats, picked up any new registrants over last year. Democrats, however, turned out to be the heaviest losers in numerical strength.

Democratic strength dropped from 10,151 to 9,481, a loss of 670. Republicans dropped from 6,739 to 6,695, a comparatively small loss of 44.

Non partisan registration went from 173 to 160, a decline of 13 registrants. Independents numbered 36, or one fewer than last year. Prohibition party registrants held even at a half dozen; and there was exactly one Progressive party registrant, as there was last year.

The lists were compiled after the end of the registration and re-registration period recently.

During the period, from Dec. 7 to March 1 inclusive, Republicans marked a slight swing in their favor: 30 persons switched affiliations from Democrat to Republican. Eight changed from Republican to Democrat, while one former non-partisan went Republican.

During the period a total of 463 persons registered or re-registered—286 as Republicans, 173 as Democrats, two as non-partisans and two as Independents.

Although registrations are closed for the primaries, residents may still register for the general elections in November.

Blakeslee—icy roads in a localized area caused property damage of $1,000 when two cars collided at 8 p.m. Sunday on Route 115, three miles south of here.

Brodheadville State police said Ralph Swan, 22, Shavertown, Pa., was driving south and Peter Iannuzzi, 38, Scranton, was going north.

Iannuzzi tried to steer his car around another vehicle which was stuck on the highway, but his car collided with the on-coming Swan auto. Damages were $500 to each car.

Police said Beverly Mae Swan, 21, passenger in Ralph Swan's car, suffered forehead cuts and bruises, but said she would see her family physician.

The freak icing condition which was blamed for the crash extended from Effort Mountain north to Blakeslee. Police said the thin skin made driving extremely hazardous. Many cars had tire chains on.

The crash, tied up traffic in both directions until a wrecker got the two cars separated, police said.

course of the afternoon yesterday were reluctant to be quoted on the question of income tax. A few expressed the opinion that to do so would involve them in some form of recrimination from either private or governmental sources.

(Among those who expressed opinions but preferred to remain unidentified the majority did not criticize the income tax as much but offered comments on the manner in which the funds may be used. A generally heavy criticism of recent "scandals" in the Bureau of Internal Revenue itself was noted in at least five replies.

(One Stroudsburg resident expressed strong discontent with certain forms of local taxation. This taxpayer, who owns a home in the borough, said that, following an investigation of assessments in the neighborhood, their family had come to the conclusion that the federal tax was set up on a much fairer basis than the borough taxes.

(One woman, interviewed downtown, stated that she did not feel free to criticize the income tax or the government on the grounds that she might be called a Communist.)

Two Types Of Voting Machines Placed In County Courthouse For Public Inspection

THESE ARE THE TWO voting machines set up in the courthouse corridor. County residents have been invited to inspect them and to cast a ballot in favor of the one they think easiest to operate. At the top is the Automatic voting machine, and on the bottom the Shoup voting machine. Commissioners have indicated they will give considerable weight to the preference expressed by voters. The machines will be on display in the courthouse until Saturday, possibly longer. (Daily Record photo)

Dummy Delivers Pastor's Sermons

Beallsville, Pa. (AP) — Rev. Gerland E. Bonney delivers many of his sermons with his mouth closed. He lets Jerry—a wood doll dummy—do the talking for him.

Rev. Bonney, an ordained minister of the Methodist church, says the ventriloquist angle gets the "Good Word" to a lot of people who otherwise wouldn't listen.

Jerry has played a large part in the minister's evangelistic work for the past 20 years. When the occasion arises the dummy, aided by Rev. Bonney, provides a pretty good lead voice for group hymn singing.

SUMMER FURNITURE DAMAGED BY SMOKE! WAIT FOR FIRE SALE STAR FURN STORES E. Stroudsburg

Two types of voting machines were lined up in the courthouse corridor yesterday for county residents to look over.

Sometime this year county commissioners will put in an order for at least 21 of one kind or the other.

The two machines are expected to be left in the courthouse at least until Saturday, according to Chief Clerk Harry Taylor, and possibly longer.

Commissioners Ansel F. Altomose, W. Adolph Rake and Granville Shiffer have called for residents to inspect and try out the two machines, then express their preference for one or the other.

For this purpose the machines have been numbered as "1" and "2." Residents are to put their name and the number of the preferred machine on a slip of paper and drop it in the ballot box on the counter in the commissioners' office.

One machine is made by the Automatic Voting Machine Corp., represented by John Wolfe, Canadensis. The other is manufactured by the Shoup Voting Machine Co., represented by Ransom Shoup, of Philadelphia.

So far commissioners have not revealed the price quoted to them on either machine.

They said the prices were submitted on a competitive basis and cited this as the reason for not disclosing the figures.

The board said it did not think price should be the determining factor and that residents should decide on a basis of which machine appears best and easiest to use.

Date for counting up the ballots cast by residents has not yet been set, but evidently the ballots will count a good deal in deciding commissioners on which machine to buy.

"I'd say 95 per cent of it is up to the voters," Altomose explained.

The latter dispute grew out of an argument between the three on Washington St. last Wednesday night after Mrs. Heller and Eilbert attended a viewing nearby.

Justice Bonser deferred sentencing on both men for the surety (breach) of the peace. The two were bound over to the grand jury on the firearms charges.

East Stroudsburg borough police arrested the two at a lunchroom at 110 Brown St., Saturday night after Eilbert reportedly threatened to shoot Argus Walters, of East Stroudsburg. Police took the loaded pistol from Louis Walters' hip pocket. Louis and Argus Walters are not related.

Argus Walters himself is under sentence by Justice Bonser; he was charged with disorderly conduct by Leona Heller, and Eilbert.

Two Plead Guilty To Charges

Two Stroudsburg men pleaded guilty to charges of surety of the peace and firearms code violations at a hearing yesterday before Justice of the Peace Herbert G. Bonser, East Stroudsburg.

The men, Russell Eilbert, 44, and Louis H. Walters, 29, both of 6 Siofflet St., were committed to the county jail. Eilbert was unable to post $1,000 bond on the charge of loaning or giving a .22 caliber pistol to Walters. Walters was unable to post the necessary $1,000 bond for carrying firearms without a license.

Justice Bonser deferred sentencing on both men for the surety (breach) of the peace. The two were bound over to the grand jury on the firearms charges.

Pre-School Clinic To Be Conducted

A pre-school clinic for children who will be enrolled in Clearview school this coming September will be held at the school building tomorrow, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

The clinic will give both mental and emotional tests to the children under the direction of Bennett Stralt, special education supervisor for Monroe-Pike-Wayne counties.

A thorough physical check-up will be made on all prospective pupils by Dr. R. J. Batory, the school physician. Parents are requested to bring baptismal or birth records and a complete vaccination record to the school.

Registration will begin at 8:30. Parents are requested to visit the principal's office first.

Principal Rex Harding said yesterday that first grade teachers will be available during the day for conference with pupils and parents. State nurses will also be in attendance throughout the testing.

In times like these, scarce materials are essential to the national welfare. Long before Korea, Bell research people went to work to conserve on those used for telephone service. They have found hundreds of ingenious ways by which more plentiful materials can substitute for scarce ones. The result of their work is an average yearly saving of 115 tons of aluminum, 2,920 tons of copper, 48 tons of tin, 175 tons of natural rubber, 277 tons of nickel, and 97 tons of zinc!

Everyday Miracle

What Is The Cost?

The voting machine popularity contest run by the County Commissioners in the Court House corridor is apparently suffering from a lack of popularity, judging by the amount of voting on the relative merits of the two machines on display there.

Lack of interest in voting bears out our original statement the idea "serves no good purpose." Both of these machines have passed tests of the Secretary of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and won approval for use in this state. They are qualified for use by voters in all of Pennsylvania.

What all voters are interested in right now is a voting machine which is so qualified, and which is lowest in first cost, and low in maintenance cost.

Now that should be easy for commissioners to get. They simply have to ask for bids. We understand they have received prices from both firms, but yesterday Commissioners refused to release those quotations for publication. Again, a decision which serves no purpose. The people are entitled to know the cost.

Voting machines for 8,500 voters in Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, Middle Stroud and Smithfield Townships should be purchased on price and maintenance cost factors alone, if they have passed state regulations for use in Pennsylvania.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Washington. For more than 10 years the Department of Justice has had knowledge that a union of government employees was organized, was controlled and even today is directed by Communists. Government employees, however, are still allowed to retain their membership and their government jobs.

The organization is The United Public Workers of America, with 35,000 members employed by local, state and federal government agencies. Its members distribute to government employees Communist propaganda which incites racial friction and attempts to degrade public officials and laws designed to control subversive activity in the U.S. While doing this they continue to draw salaries from the government.

The heaviest concentration of UPWA members is in the Immigration and Naturalization Service, which has been a sieve for the infiltration of alien Communists sent to the U.S. on Kremlin orders. A number of UPWA members employed by the government have undergone loyalty and security investigations and have been declared fit for government employment. A day later they could be seen distributing Communist handbills to other government employees.

The national president of the UPWA, Abraham Flaxer, the secretary-treasurer, Ewart Guinier, the director of negotiations, Alfred Bernstein, and two members of the executive board, Jack Bigel and Mrs. Rose Russell, were identified as Communists in executive session hearings before the McCarran Internal Security subcommittee of the Senate. Some of them had also been so identified in previous hearings before other Congressional committees.

The UPWA was ousted by the Congress of Industrial Organizations in 1946 for being Communist dominated. Even this did not prompt the Department of Justice to label the organization as undesirable insofar as federal employees are concerned. There are other unions of federal employees which are not Communist dominated, so membership in the UPWA cannot be excused on the ground that a prohibition of membership would deprive federal workers of union recognition.

Flaxer's behavior before the McCarran subcommittee was typically Communist. He was asked by Senator Herbert O'Connor, Democrat of Maryland, if he had ever "Put Communist party leaders in touch with people in government agencies who have furnished them information of a classified nature?"

Flaxer replied: "I just might add that this is one of those filthy and dirty blows below the belt that I resent."

When Senator Arthur Watkins, Republican of Utah, pursued the question, Flaxer stated: "That is filthy, dirty."

The committee was trying to find out if the UPWA, knowing it was Communist controlled, ever used Union members on the federal payroll as couriers or purveyors of classified information for the benefit of the Communist party of this country or for Soviet Russia.

It has been done, as the Senators know, so the question is perfectly proper. Russia gets U. S. secrets from the files of the federal government, as we all know, and it can be assumed that Soviet agents would first turn to those employees of the government who belong to organizations controlled by the Communist party.

Flaxer, however, acted shocked at the assumption. He finally refused to answer on grounds of possible self incrimination, which is another way of saying that he is afraid, to either lie or tell the truth.

Senator Pat McCarran should send a copy of the testimony and the subcommittee's conclusions to the Department of Justice with a note calling Attorney General J. Howard McGrath's attention to it. McGrath doesn't like Communists and this would be a good opportunity for him to warn all government workers, in addition to ruling that any person who persists in membership in the UPWA is playing fast and loose with his or her job. Let's give them about 30 days to make up their minds.

This 19th annual sale of seals, accomplished largely through a mail campaign, provides the funds which the association expends each year in such services as physical and speech therapy, special appliances, camping for handicapped children and many another important activity.

It is of special interest to note that the work of the association is not duplicated by any other public or private agency, and that many times it is the only means of bringing aid to handicapped children.

Not everyone, obviously, can have personal first-hand knowledge of the work among the crippled youngsters, but it would be a revealing experience if everyone who buys an Easter seal could spend just a few minutes at one of the camps or in observing the year-round program of the association.

There is nothing to touch the heart more than the sight of a little boy or girl whose twisted body forbids the normal activities of childhood. And there is nothing more humbling than the realization that these children take their afflictions in philosophic good humor, in the main, and show their appreciation so thoroughly for those things that can be done for them by the association.

It should not be difficult for you to give, ever so slightly, to those crippled children whose troubles are so much worse than your own.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

A lot of folks are wondering what becomes of infant prodigies. I realize, of course, that almost every papa and every mama thinks his or her child is a prodigy.

One mother wrote me the other day that she had discovered that her little four-month-old baby girl cried in perfect pitch—whatever that is.

Did that mean, she wanted to know, that the kid had special talent for music, and at what age should the parents begin to develop it?

As far as I am concerned, all children cry in perfect pitch.

I mean, of course, the dictionary definition of "pitch": "to plunge so that the bow and stern alternately rise and fall."

When the stern comes up it should be gently paddled until it falls again. Then, for a change a kiss might be placed on the bow.

Just in case anybody should now take me for very cruel, I say with Senator Claghorn of Illinois: "It's a joke, son." Although my wife, who has read this, claims that it is a very bum joke.

But we were talking about prodigies.

These Days - - By George E. Sokolsky

Freedom of Information. A committee of the United Nations has been in session for several years, considering the problem of freedom of information. The idea is that the United Nations, by universal treaty, will set up standards determining the nature and character of freedom of the press for the entire world. The American representative on this committee has been Carroll Binder, of the Minneapolis Tribune, a competent editor.

It has been obvious from the start that the real objective of this committee has not been freedom but suppression of freedom of the press in the interest of governments. Whereas Mr. Binder has been laboring to explain that freedom means freedom for the individual, most of the European and Asiatic delegates seem to understand that freedom means freedom for government.

We have here a conflict in the basic philosophy of life—a conflict which has plagued the United States since Franklin D. Roosevelt missed its import at Teheran in 1943. The American press does not assure its readers that its news is correct or true. It simply says: here is the way we present it and you can buy other newspapers and magazines; you can listen to radio and television. You can make up your own mind. The varieties of data and presentation will produce, in time, the truth.

Granted that sometimes the press is excessive in editorializing news reports, a habit into which the Associated Press has fallen with a prodigality of adjectives, actually no one is forced to do anything. No one is forced to buy anything; anyone can refrain even from reading or listening. Some of our professors even boast that they never read newspapers; the ants and bees and atoms give them all the news they want.

The United Nations crowd does not agree that freedom involves the right to do as one wills, provided the doer assumes full responsibility for his conduct. Carroll Binder once explained their problem in these words: "These governments are engaged in a terrifying experiment to condition the minds of hundreds of millions of persons in an attempt to make them respond automatically to the commands of their rulers. In their hands information has been transformed from a means of enlightenment and understanding into a political weapon taking any form or shape required by the situation. It has become a knife to assassinate reputations, a drug to dull the senses, or a poison to instill suspicion and fear."

It is interesting that one of the phases of journalism that this United Nations committee wants to suppress is the peepholes on the ground that they disclose the private doings of public characters.

ters. The theory is that character assassination is accomplished by telling what the great men do in private, as for instance, a report on what George Allen says to Harry Truman about Ike Eisenhower at a poker game. This should be strictly secret they feel.

Of course, the peepholes are, in a sense, dangerous—but the danger is not that they tell the truth about public figures—or even falsehoods—but that they build up synthetic personalities, by popularizing immorality. Such emphasis may distort the attitudes of children and adults with childlike minds.

Nevertheless, the peepholes have their place in journalism because he does give the public the small items of gossip for which the free human soul has a craving—even as you and I who maybe should know better.

In a free society such as ours, if this element of journalism requires a cleansing bath, public opinion will do it when it is ready. Divorce, for instance, cannot long remain of equal merit with marriage and those peepholes will ultimately prosper who have a regard for human decency. The public, in a free country, not the government, will decide that.

The worship of government by so many United Nations delegates is a real peril to free peoples because they put their slavish theories into treaties, employing the Aesopian language of diplomacy. Once such a treaty is signed by our President

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

A member of the cosmopolitan club read a transcript of a speech by the Soviet's hatchetman, Gromyko, and sat down to dash off the following fable:

An American soldier aboard a transport bound for Korea fell overboard and saw a huge shark making for him at top speed. The soldier pulled out a bayonet and prepared to defend himself. The shark was horrified. In fact, he burst into tears. "Shame! Shame!" he cried. "Never before has an imperialist attacked a poor innocent fish in this wanton manner." The soldier vaguely ashamed of himself dropped his bayonet—and the shark ate him up.

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Kathy Phillips, TV Cinderella, is Dennis Day's sweetheart in his new show because she's so shy.

Recently Dennis sought a girl-next-door type for his comedy half-hour on NBC-TV, coast-to-coast, every other Friday. She had to sing, too.

Most of the score or so of girls who tried out were confident and had that show-business glitter. Kathy, who has worked as an usherette, toy salesgirl, and record clerk while waiting for a Hollywood break, was scared.

When Dennis took her by the hand and tossed some ad-lib lines during her audition, she shyly backed away. That backing away cinched her for the part.

Kathy is 22, tiny, and pretty, with large brown eyes and poodle-cut brown hair. She started singing as a toddler in the back yard at home in San Francisco, where her father ran a malt shop. She hardly has stepped since. She got fired from a job sorting towels in a San Francisco laundry because she persisted in singing while she worked.

She sang with bands—and suffered from shyness. "It was very hard to get up on the bandstand," Kathy tried to explain. "There were a lot of playboys, wolves, things like that."

When they sent up notes asking her to join them at their tables, she sent excuses—and fled to a back-room restaurant.

Still, she wanted to be a professional singer and decided on Hollywood radio. She came here 3½ years ago. She had paid for vocal lessons by filling bags in a potato-chip factory, running an elevator, working as a dime-store waitress, and posting for ads.

In Hollywood she kept records in an insurance office but yearned to sing. "There was wired music playing in the office," she remembers. "I'd get real blue and make

National Clean-Up Week

The following is a dream brought on by reading too many current news items:

Had a perfect day. On way to train met a neighbor who just got back back from Washington where he had practiced law for three weeks and is now buying four midtown skyscrapers, negotiating for the Morgan estate at Oyster Bay and planning to organize his own polo team. Had trouble getting newspaper at station. Newsstand closed. Proprietor is before a Senate committee questioning him about operations with a waiter and two detectives who cleaned up $400,000 on an investment of $638 in cooperation with Chinese students in Yugoslavia working for Alaska's admission to union.

On train talked with Joe Clutch, our old garbage man, who told me he was moving to Shanghai La, having been in politics almost half a year, and will never have to do another day's work. Arriving at office, found only 10 per cent of staff on job. Rest in Washington for grillings. Hardly had my hat off before got phone call from barber who said he needed $8. If I could scrape up $4 he would take over a steel mill for which he had an Indian buyer who wanted to use it in Greece where a charming woman known as Steel Ingot Inez would take over and ship it to Albania. Only had $3.45.

Went to lunch. Service poor. Management explained that the waitress at my table was busy on long-distance calls to an Indo-China group for which she had obtained two large ammunition plants and a tank factory. Manager took my order. He didn't return. Found out he had gone into conference with some commission man and an artist's model to conclude a million-dollar deal with the Swiss for jet planes to be shipped to Cairo for customers who were buying them mistakes. I left by mutual agreement."

She had a few hand-singing jobs and a few unproductive singing auditions. She was always scared when she tried out. How does success feel at last? "Frankly I don't allow myself to believe I have it," Kathy said. "I tell myself, 'Wait a while.'"

A Tory friend, after listening to President Truman outline his needs for $7,900,000,000 for foreign aid, chirped, "But, Harry, ain't you got anything in a little cheaper necktie today?"

Faye Emerson is moderator of "Author Meets The Critic," a highly stormy program. She has beauty, charm and rare ability in many lines and is highly ornamental to this program. But it is a little like finding Little Red Riding Hood umpering the main bout at Madison Square Garden or encountering Miss Muffett parting the boys on the wrestling telecast.

Home Service Of Red Cross Meets Needs

The 1952 American Red Cross Fund campaign for $13,815 to meet the local quota is expected to reach its peak this week, as workers try to complete their territory and captains total up the contributions toward the township quotas before the end of the week.

In connection with the drive, a report of the home service program of the Monroe County chapter has been released showing the breadth of its service to servicemen, veterans and their dependents.

Concerned with personal and family problems, home service assists with communications services and their families, supplies information about regulations and legislations, assists in presenting claims and furnishes reports to the military, as well as giving financial aid in the form of loans or grants in case of need.

During the past year 278 cases were given service while 250 additional people were given immediate service and not listed as cases. There were 50 veterans and their families given financial assistance.

Telegrams for servicemen and their families in cases of illness and death and concerning extensions of leave amounted to a total of 272, with 110 long distance telephone calls in their behalf.

Transient veterans, seeking aid, numbered 62, who were given assistance when advisable. There were 324 home visits and 1567 office interviews during the year. The four wheelchairs belonging to the chapter were in constant use.

St. Patrick's Party Held By Mrs. Addie Adams

A St. Patrick's party followed the meeting of the Friendly society of the Zion Reformed church held Thursday night at the home of Mrs. Addie Adams, with her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Lim, assisting as hostess.

They had crocheted miniature cups and saucers to hold the candies at each place, and Spring flowers and shamrocks marked the refreshment table.

The class donated $5 to the Red Cross, and will give a plant for the church's Easter service. They also voted to order more jelly.

Present for the meeting were Mrs. Margaret Siegfried, Mrs. Lydia Kirkhuff, Mrs. Laura Stout, Mrs. Ann Zucchi, Mrs. Helen Weingartner, Mrs. Grace Slutter, Miss Helen Gruber, Mrs. Mary Cramer, Mrs. Josephine Smith, Mrs. Laura Marsh, Mrs. Addie Adams, and three guests: Mrs. Dorothy Lim, Mrs. Frank Blatt, and Kathleen McConnell.

Friends Honor Mrs. Robacker

Angels — Mrs. Allen Robacker, of Angels, was the guest of honor at a surprise birthday luncheon on Thursday when she received many gifts, including a decorated birthday cake.

The guests were all from Barrett and included Mrs. Henry Shaller, Mrs. Elmer Rinehart, Mrs. Chester Oliver, Mrs. Fred Albert and son, Pete, Mrs. Chas. Heidman and son, John, Mrs. McCleary, Mrs. Wilson Heller and daughter, Flora Jean, Mrs. Earl Rose, Mrs. Donald Shepard and son Steven and the guest of honor, Mrs. Robacker.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

You know the robin is really a very handsome bird. Later in the year when he becomes commonplace, we pay him as little attention as the dandelions or daisies. But right now with all the male robins hunting, you do notice that bright red breast as splashy in its way as a cardinal or a blue-jay especially in comparison with the slate-gray juncos or black and white chickadees that have been with us all winter.

There's a lot you see when you're looking with fresh eyes, still unaccustomed to—well, say spring hats. Later in the season you might not notice that those are lilacs of the valley growing up Mrs. Martha Hood's bonnet.

In June you're much too busy to stand gawping up at blue sky—but in March it's a spectacular sight with the clouds scudding fast. The first green down by the swamp is greener than any summer verdure; the first modest crocus gets more attention than the most flamboyant dahlia.

And by the same token, the house looks dustier, duller and more hopeless in these days when you're looking with eyes turned forward to spring cleaning.

Mrs. Heller Is Honored At Family Party

Mrs. Margaret Heller, of Penn Street, who gained a county-wide reputation for her pies, was the guest of honor at a surprise party on Friday night at the home of her son, Elwood Heller, of Ransberry Ave.

It was the first time in many years that so many of her family had all been together, and they joined in presenting her with many gifts.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Phil Ellenberger, Mr. and Mrs. John Felencer and son, John Jr., John Sandt, Lester Hannas, Mrs. Asher Bartholomew, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Heller and daughters, Margaret and Shirley; Mrs. Dimmick Heller and son, Edwin and daughter Dana; Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Heller and daughter Elsie; Mr. and Mrs. George Heller and daughter, Gail; of Easton; Miss Pat Boylan of Easton; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smiley and daughter, Margaret and son, Frank; Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Martling and daughter, Dawn; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Read and daughters, Sharon and Stephanie; Mrs. William LaEar and son, Billy and daughter, Dianne; Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burch and daughter, Donna; Mrs. James Konowalik and daughter, Linda; and the guest of honor, Mrs. Margaret Heller.

Easter Boxes Sent To Boys From Poplar Valley

Poplar Valley — The Poplar Valley Women's Society of Christian Service packed Easter boxes of food for the local boys in service, and planned to make permanent repairs to the interior of the social hall, at their meeting held at the home of Mrs. Fred Dennis, last Wednesday.

The Easter baskets were sent to Bernard Heffer, Darte Metcalf, John Pennell, William Booth, Dale Bell and Leland Waltz.

Mrs. Edward Gunn presided at the business meeting when plans were made for a "traveling basket" to be started soon, and plans to purchase new trays. Contributions for the trays should be given to Mrs. Fred Dennis.

They decided to hold the bake sale, previously postponed, in conjunction with Mrs. Agnes Beyer's sale on March 22.

The group plans to houseclean the social hall and church at the next meeting, April 2, when Mrs. Edward Gunn and Mrs. Elmer Heffer will be hostesses. Mrs. Fred Dennis served the dinner preceding the meeting last week.

Mrs. Leonard Reish and Mrs. Leon Parrell were welcomed as new members. Those present included Mrs. Edward Gunn, Mrs. Donald Reish and sons Bruce and Lawrence, Mrs. Orlan Reish and Gary, Mrs. Wilfred Wagner, Mrs. Paul Albert, Mrs. Leonard Reish and children Sherry, Brenda and Dwayne, Mrs. Leon Parrell, Rev. and Mrs. Clyde Levergood, Mrs. Ted Bush and son Scotty, Henry Wells and Mrs. Fred Dennis.

Literary Group Hears Book Review

Portland — The Literary group of the Woman's club of Portland met at the home of Mrs. G. J. Davies, Upper Delaware Ave., on Wednesday afternoon when Mrs. Raymond Scott reviewed Sholem Asch's book, "Mary".

Refreshments were served to the following members: Mrs. Wallace Hutcheon, Mrs. David R. Edwards, Mrs. Crouse, Mrs. E. L. Kennedy, Mrs. Charles Hifferly, Mrs. Raymond Transue, Mrs. Bert Transue, Mrs. Henry Webb, Mrs. Ernest Courtney, Mrs. John Early, Mrs. Raymond Scott, Mrs. Frank Gardner, Miss Ruth Williams, and the hostess, Mrs. G. J. Davies.

Harriet Learn Has Gala 16th Birthday

Tannersville — An auspicious beginning for the 16th birthday of Harriet Learn, daughter of Mrs. Ruth Learn, on Wednesday morning, was the telephone call from the children of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Besecker, who sang "Happy Birthday" before they left for school.

Throughout the day, she was congratulated by school mates. Cards and gifts were received including 16 red roses from the entire Besecker family.

Her sophomore class from the Pocono High school, with Richard DeHaven, teacher, gathered at the Learn home to do her honor. Games were played under the leadership of Marjorie Besecker and the party was climaxed with refreshments. The following classmates and friends attended: Janie Besecker, Nadine Bloss, Ronnie Boyer, Lois Butz, Bob Hallet, David Lindstedt, Frances Mooney, Tommie Williams, Nancy Reimel, Mac Roeder, Norma Schuler, Harry Walters, Jackie Werkheiser, Louie Vorge, Dolores Kane, the guest of honor and her mother, Mrs. Ruth Learn, Marjorie Besecker and Mr. DeHaven. Mrs. DeHaven was unable to attend because of illness.

Shirley Wheeler First Woman On Virginia Board

Mrs. Joseph C. Wheeler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Price of East Stroudsburg, now living in Arlington, Va., was recently appointed to the Arlington County Planning Commission by the local governing body.

Mrs. Wheeler is the first woman ever to be appointed to the Planning Commission in Arlington, or to similar groups in other sections of the state of Virginia.

The Arlington County Planning commission is formulating a six-year program for capital improvements in the community which has grown from 40,000 in 1939, when the Wheelers moved there, to 140,000 in 1952. The group is figuring out ways and means of building new highways, sidewalks, storm sewers, playgrounds and schools, outgrown in the triple expansion.

Engagement Announced On St. Patrick's Day

Mr. and Mrs. John Goddess, of Allentown, announced the engagement of their daughter, Pauline Goddess, to Robert M. Phelps on March 17.

Miss Goddess, a graduate of Allentown Central Catholic High school, and Mr. Phelps, of Bangor, are both students at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

The date for their wedding has been set for Christmas day, 1952.

Luncheon Held At Cherry Valley Parsonage

Cherry Valley — The Women's Society of the Cherry Valley Methodist church held a luncheon meeting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. C. Clyde Levergood on Thursday. The spiritual life committee presented the devotions which included hymns, scripture reading by Mrs. Hattie Williams, and prayer by Mrs. Levergood.

At the business meeting, they planned to send donations to missions and to the Deaconess home in Philadelphia. The group plans to tour the Methodist institutions of Philadelphia on April 17.

The regular April meeting will be a kitchen shower for the church with the meeting to be held in the church basement. Mrs. Frank Diamond will be the hostess.

Those present for the dinner were: Mrs. Fred Dennis, Mrs. Livingston Gunn, Mrs. Linnie Schobert, Mrs. Frank Zeller, Mrs. Mary Weygand, Mrs. Kurt Grunke, Mrs. Marianne Schmidt, Mrs. Adolph Faessler, Mrs. Hattie Williams, Mrs. Donald Dennis, Mrs. Theodore Kemmerer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hester, Mrs. Gertrude Nunn, Mrs. Purday Carson, Mrs. Samuel Getz, Otto Jahr, Henry Wells, Mrs. Stanley Haney, Mrs. Otto Christ, Mrs. Frank Diamond, Mrs. Andrew Keiser, Rev. and Mrs. C. ## Conservation Of Resources, Lives, Young People Theme Of Panel At DAR Meeting

Conservation, both natural and human, formed the basis for the panel discussion held yesterday at the meeting of the Jacob Stroud chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution at the Stroud Community House with Mrs. Claude Leister serving as moderator.

Clyde C. Pyle, district forester; Miss Elizabeth Martin, probation officer, and Sgt. Frank Cannon of the Pennsylvania State police, were panel members. Their ten-minute presentations were followed by questions and answers.

Mr. Pyle, in outlining the six major conservation projects in Pennsylvania, emphasized that they were for the most part lifetime projects, taking 25 or more years to show lasting results. The protection against forest fires, dating back fifty years, he said had enabled second growth forests to develop and wild life to return. Other facets were proper management of existing forests and reforestation programs.

Soil conservation in returning worn-out farms to usefulness; conservation education in schools and among organizations; the problem of conservation in the coal-mining areas; the clear-stream program in restoring polluted, silted streams to usefulness were four other Pennsylvania projects, he said.

The sixth he listed as "Inocel," dealing with the Delaware River basin to meet the metropolitan need of mountain water. Conservation of water, construction of dams (which is what has caused the most discussion and on Pennsylvania's part the most disagreement) were among the problems he listed.

Miss Elizabeth Martin described the program for the conservation of youth in the community, telling of the various means in which cases of delinquent, neglected or dependent children were brought before the courts of the county and of the method of dealing with these children, designed to save them for society rather than for punishment. Foster homes, the Children's Aid society, private hearings, use of the Child Guidance clinic and consultation psychologist.

Sgt. Cannon, speaking of the conservation of lives on the highway, listed highway engineering for safer roads; safety education through driver training program in the school and safety campaigns, and enforcement of traffic rules as three phases of the attempts to prevent highway deaths.

"However even with these three working at maximum efficiency," he said, "there still remains the individual, and the public will to live." He listed speed as the number one killer.

Mrs. G. Raymond Hood, regent, presided at the business meeting when it was announced that the Jacob Stroud chapter would host to the district conference to be held at Shawnee Inn on June 19. She named Mrs. Harold R. Flagler Jr. and Mrs. Harold Edwards as co-chairmen of the committee assisted by Miss Lulu Shaffer, Mrs. Milo Rasey, Mrs. Frank S. Weiss and Mrs. Ashton L. Burrows.

A nominating committee was elected by the chapter including Mrs. Nelson Beers, Dr. Edna Rosenkrans and Mrs. I. W. Foltz. Mrs. Hood invited the members of the chapter to a buffet luncheon at the Community House preceding the April meeting which will be devoted to DAR approved schools.

Tea was served with Mrs. Nelson Beers substituting for Mrs. William Wells, assisted by Mrs. Charles Auger, Mrs. Warren Mikels, Mrs. Allen Zahorik and Mrs. Ralph Turn.

Fruit Tribute Is Presented At Pocono Grange

Tannersville — At the Pocono Grange 1415 meeting held on Friday, about sixty members from various granges gathered to witness the Fruit Tribute presentation. Grange members from Mt. Prospect, Matamoras and Deer Park of Pike Co. were among the visitors. In a brief session before the regular meeting, Mrs. Marie Nelson and son Richard, were obligated in the third and fourth degree.

Mt. Prospect grange members and all the officers marched into the hall in degree drill formation. They took the chairs of the officers of the Pocono Grange and conducted the balance of the meeting. Two young ladies presented the fruit tribute, Pomona from Mt. Prospect Grange and her assistant, dressed in blue evening gowns.

The basket of fruit, was presented to Pomona of the Pocono grange, represented by Elsie Besecker, who filled the chair for Sally Henry. This basket of fruit was afterwards sent to "Grandma Hardensline."

The entertainment was provided in a skit put on by Charles Van Sciver, teacher in "An Old Village School Room." Pupils included Myles Dailey, John Montgomery, Ruth Howell, Elsie Dailey, Irene Hartman, Emma Keiper, Dick Howell, Frank Mooney, who all misbehaved to the best of their ability and provided an hilarious climax. A step-stool, made by Milton Singer, was sold and became the property of Myles Dailey.

Refreshments were served cafeteria style.

Miss Slutter Is Married To R. W. Miller

Miss Patricia Slutter, daughter of Albert Slutter, of Stroudsburg, and Robert W. Miller, son of Jacob Miller, of Pen Argyl, were married on Saturday afternoon, March 15, in the Methodist church of Belvidere, N. J.

Rev. J. J. Wades, pastor, performed the ceremony. The bride was attended by her sister, Mrs. David R. Harman, of Stroudsburg, while Mr. Harman served as best man. Mr. and Mrs. Norman Davidson also witnessed the ceremony.

A wedding dinner, featuring a three-tier wedding cake, was held for the members of the wedding party.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller will make their home at 10 West Main St., Pen Argyl.

All-Day Outing For Girl Scouts

The first in a series of all-day outings planned for Girl Scouts between the ages of 12 and 14 has been planned for this Saturday at Camp Lloyd Treible on Mosier's Knob.

The first 16 girls to register with Mrs. Camille Harvey, executive director, will make up this first group which will leave at 10 a. m. and return by 3:30 p. m. Exploration, camping activities and a noon-cook-out will be features of the outing.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

Remember that old song about Ferdinand, the bull who loved flowers? As I recall, he wore necklaces of posies, and sat under a tree all day plucking daisy petals to learn whatever it is that daisies won't usually tell. Well, yesterday in the gift department, we learned about another fascinating bull named "Nandi." (Any resemblance between the two names is probably just coincidental.)

Nandi is a sacred bull of India, whose memory is perpetuated in numerous shrines as well as in a string of beautifully colored brass bells from Sarma called "Nandi's Necklaces." It was upon Nandi that a famous ruler rode one day, centuries ago, when on a tour of inspection that took him over a hazardous route through the Himalaya Mountains. Every inch of progress was a threat to life and limb, but Nandi picked out the way with such care that the party returned safely and in good time. So grateful was the ruler that he requested his wife to select an appropriate gift for the animal, and she complied with a necklace fashioned of colored beads and beautiful, musical bells. In tribute to Nandi, such necklaces are commonly worn by the sacred bulls of India today.

Whether all this is sheer fantasy, or as factual as the Battle of Bull Run, it's really a bully tale. And, you must admit, life is far more interesting for the legends woven, like bright threads, through its otherwise dull tapestry.

The mystery of the Far East elings also to the brass incense burners that are among other new arrivals in our gift department. These take us back to the time when gaudily painted incense urns from Japan were considered elegant necessities in every well regulated parlor. Remember? . . . Also "in the news" are the housecoats of seersucker and pique for little girls, sizes 3 to 6. Some are terry trimmed and gaily figured, and all may be worn either at home or on the beach this summer . . . And here's another tip. If you wish you'd never have to wash another dish, stop being "wishy-washy" and take the easy way out. A Swish-a-tony version of the old dish cloth. It's new. It's better. It's no trouble at all. Wish . . . dish . . . SWISH. And that sums to clean things up for another day!

UJA Drive Under Way In County

The 1952 United Jewish Appeal campaign for a nationwide quota of $151,500,000 got under way here yesterday following a rally of Jewish leaders from Northeastern Pennsylvania communities in Scranton Sunday.

More than $500,000 in cash was presented for support of UJA's world-wide humanitarian programs at the meeting. Some communities turned in as high as $100,000 which they borrowed against the income of their 1952 campaign.

Maxwell Cohen, Stroudsburg attorney, attended the Scranton rally. He is secretary of the local campaign which is headed this year by Rabbi Maurice Idell and Dr. Neil Josephson.

Some 500 conferees heard Air Force General A. Robert Ginsburg endorse UJA as dedicated to advance of democracy and free way of life. They heard Zella Popkin and Ham Fisher, noted eastern Pennsylvanians, call for support of UJA as vital to Israel's fight for economic independence.

Cohen said the conference voted a resolution urging immediate, generous giving to community campaigns on behalf of UJA to carry out a crucial five-point assistance program.

Tedious Work At Low Pay

Tokyo, (AP)—Some people will really work hard to pick up a dishonest yen. Japanese police ruefully reported yesterday as they sought the makers of "abbreviated" 1,000-yen bank notes.

One thousand yen equals only $2.80, but the police said some wise guys are laboriously cutting the notes into 15 pieces, then reassembling them minus one piece. With 24 such extra pieces they then make a new bill.

Several hundred such bills have been detected, but the makers have not.

The Bank of Japan is legally obligated to pay in full for any damaged bill if at least two-thirds of the bill is held.

Three Persons Perish In Fire

Johnstown, (AP)—A father and two of his three children burned to death Sunday in a fire which destroyed the family's home.

The mother, another child and a visiting young relative escaped. Dead are Thomas Wherry, 37, and those children, Marlene, seven, and Charles, three. Mrs. Lily Wherry, 30, and James, 10, survived with Shirley Mae Livingston, 14, a sister of Mrs. Wherry who was visiting the Wherry family.

An overheated stove in the kitchen set the two-story frame house on fire.

Evangelists Plan Services At Citadel

Two of the Salvation Army's outstanding evangelistic leaders, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Mehling of New York City will conduct evangelistic services in the Salvation Army in East Stroudsburg starting tonight and continuing through Sunday, March 23.

Appointed as territorial evangelists in 1946, their services throughout the 11 eastern states have met with marked success. They have stirred Salvation Army forces to greater efforts in reaching people with spiritual problems.

The Mehlings have served as officers in the Salvation Army since 1911, and have had appointments as corps officers in the Philadelphia area, and as young people's workers and administrative officers in Hartford, Buffalo, Pittsburgh, Cincinnati, Columbia and New York City.

Mrs. Mehling is a native of Pen Argyl. Both are skilled musicians. There will be a special Junior Soldiers service at 4 p.m. today, followed by a revival service at 7:30 p.m.

There will be special meetings every night this week at the citadel, 78 S. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg.

Drennan To Speak At Barrett On Equalizing Assessments

Harry J. Drennan, Barrett township school board member, will appear before the Parent-Teachers association at Barrett Township Consolidated school tomorrow night at 8 to present his plans for equalization of assessments on a county-wide basis.

The Drennan plan, which would set assessments at one-third of the market value of properties, has been approved by twelve township and borough school boards in Monroe county since it was submitted two months ago.

Action on the plan, or an invitation to Drennan to further explain it, has not been forthcoming from the county commissioners. At the time of submission of the plan to school boards, a copy was also sent to the commissioners.

Under new law passed by the last session of the Commonwealth legislature it is now up to county commissioners to this county to establish an equitable per cent ratio of assessments to property market value.

Mrs. Frances Bender, president of the PTA, will be in charge of the business meeting when officers for 1952-53 will be elected.

Several of Barrett's forensic winners will present readings at the meeting.

Launch New Attacks

Saigon, Indochina (AP)—French Union forces have launched a new series of heavy attacks against thousands of Communist-led Viet-minh guerrillas who have infiltrated the vital Red river delta—France's strategic bastion around the northern city of Hanoi.

Leghorn, Italy, had a prewar daily shipping capacity of 17,500 tons.

County Allocates $17,000 For Bridge Repairs, Painting

Some $17,000 was earmarked by commissioners yesterday for repair and repainting of county-maintained bridges this year.

The money will come out of the county's liquid fuel tax fund receipts from the State, which commissioners estimate will be around $70,000 this year.

Much of this year's grant has already been reserved—$20,000 to pay off bonds coming due, $11,000 to cover unprotected obligations, and $1,700 for interest on bonds.

Added to the $17,000 for bridges, the total already reserved is $49,700.

This leaves only $20,300 to distribute to the four boroughs and 26 townships for road improvement and construction this year, according to commissioners' reckoning.

The relatively small sum is about what Stroudsburg borough alone asked for in the way of road aid.

Commissioners now are faced with the problem of how to distribute the $20,300. They agreed to work toward an answer at Thursday's meeting.

The $17,000 figure for this year's bridge work was arrived at in a conference between commissioners and Engineer Edward C. Hess.

The board accompanied Hess on an inspection of all county bridges Saturday. Yesterday the four men estimated costs of the work needed.

It was decided that work was needed on some 11 of the bridges. The work will be done this summer, when weather is suitable. Bids will be let for the jobs, but the date has not yet been determined.

The program includes work on the following bridges: Reaser bridge, on Route 406; Snyder's Mill (Fishville) bridge, Route 404; Baltz bridge, Route 438; Pohopoco bridge, Route 352; Pohopoco bridge, Route 425; Pohopoco

C. Of C. Favors Private Development, If At All, Of St. Lawrence Seaway

Pocono Mountains Chamber of Commerce yesterday went on record as favoring private development of the St. Lawrence Seaway, if it is developed at all, under the provisions of the Capehart-Miller bill. Two dissenting votes were cast by outright opponents of the seaway.

The board also directed a special committee to canvass the method, cost and mechanics of a regional appeal for a revitalized and unified promotion of industry, business and region resorts. A broader base than ever envisioned before would distinguish this campaign, if adopted.

A request for a report of progress and the present status of the development of Mount Pocono Airport was directed by the board. This grew out of report of the executive committee, headed by Gerald O'Neill, that the Civil Aeronautics board was holding a hearing Monday in Washington and that Rep. Francis E. Walter, (D-Easton) had obtained a postponement of the deadline for local intervention and the filing of a brief to further All American Aviation certification for service at the mountain airport.

Commendation was voted The Daily Record and Radio Station WVFO for vigorous activity looking toward registration of citizens to qualify them for the coming election, as recommended last month. The board took note of the fact 4,000 citizens failed to qualify as electors for this primary election.

Dr. Joseph Noonan and Gerald P. O'Neill were designated to represent the local Chamber at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, April 28-30 with Dr. Noonan serving as national counselor.

Merle C. Ostrom presided at the meeting with 30 members present, largest attendance since the board reorganized.

To the homeowner with a hot water problem

Here's why an ELECTRIC Water Heater gives greatest satisfaction

1. Peak Efficiency

There's no flue to dissipate half the heat you pay for. After 3 days—without reheating—water would still be hot enough for baths, showers, laundry—because complete insulation on sides, top and bottom holds the heat inside.

2. Real Economy

All the heat goes into the water and stays there, because of the complete insulation, impossible in other types. Since no flue is necessary, place the unit nearest the point of greatest use—save the heat that's usually wasted in long pipe runs.

3. Utmost Convenience

It's completely automatic and trouble free—needs no annual service calls for cleaning and replacement of parts. And there's an uninterrupted supply of hot water at the turn of a faucet.

4. Complete Safety

Your electric water heater, with its complete insulation, stays cool to the touch... there are no fumes—no flame—so it may be placed anywhere with complete safety—even right in your kitchen.

5. Absolute Cleanliness

No need to hide your electric water heater in the basement. Since there's no flame, there's no unburned carbon to make extra dirt. Clean electric heat leaves everything spotless!

Low in Price—High in Efficiency Unmatched in Performance

An automatic ELECTRIC WATER HEATER costs no more to buy than other types of equal size and quality. Operating costs are low—you use every bit of heat you pay for. With the advantages offered—cleanliness, convenience, safety—the logical purchase for your home is a fully automatic ELECTRIC WATER HEATER.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Reports coming out of St. Petersburg, Fla. indicate that the poor showing of Johnny Sain and Frank Shea on the mound for the Yankees has put several rookie hurlers in the running for regular jobs. On this select list is Harry Schaffer, a graduate of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College and a veteran of two years with the Stroudsburg Poconos. Harry has had good luck in his two exhibition pitching jobs thus far in the Grapefruit league.

Several new awards have been sanctioned for the Gold Medal Basketball Tournament that gets underway at the Monroe County YMCA next Monday. However, the one that features an award for the team showing the best sportsmanship stands out most in this writer's opinion. This means that every member of the team winning the sportsmanship award has to display the highest of basketball manners, not only one individual. However, the individual sportsmanship award is still very much in the tournament, just as it has been down through the years.

I was also impressed by the selection of officials by the committee. The group voted favorably on Jim Frawley, Bill Schmidt, Dick Lee and Dick Dean, four fellows who have taken their officiating duties seriously in the past year. All four certainly deserve all the help they can get in breaking into a regular officiating routine and the tournament should be a stepping stone in the right direction. Schmidt and Frawley are well-known as basketball stars at ESSTC in recent years, while Dean and Lee played basketball and football respectively at Stroudsburg High, prior to graduation.

Blue Mountain Empire association will hold its regularly monthly meeting at the Central Labor Union club a week from tomorrow. Walt Stem, well known local sportsman, is chairman of the umpiring group. The sudden surge of Crowe's Insurance in the Delaware Valley Bowling league recalls the drive to the National league pennant by the Giants last fall. Crowe's club, despite winning 12 straight points, isn't given much of a chance to bring home the bacon — but neither were Leo Durocher's men.

West End A. C. enjoyed a successful St. Patrick's day dance at Chestnut Hill Inn last Friday. The financial gains were reported as very good. All proceeds will be used to finance the diamond organization during the coming Pocono Mountains league campaign. Carl Bell, a graduate of ESSTC and now coach at Damascus High, a member of the Wayne County Conference, recently became the father of his second son. Congratulations, Carl.

Catasauqua's chances of putting the basketball used in last Saturday's game with Bethlehem into its trophy case seems very slim at the present time. The ball was either stolen, lost or developed wings and flew away before any of the joyous Rough Riders had presence of mind to go in search of the inflated leather. Catty certainly would like to recover the ball, as Saturday's win was probably the sweetest in the history of basketball at the school. The charges of Coach Bob Mushrush tangle with Reading High at Hershey tonight.

Catty not only won District 11 honors last Saturday, but the Catasauqua Kneehi cagers won the state title on the same day. It appears as if Coach Mushrush will have plenty of talent on the way up for a good many years in the future. Jack Daniels, young outfielder with the Boston Braves, walked in the thirteenth inning on Sunday to force home the winning run to give the Braves a 3-2 nod over the Cardinals in an exhibition contest. Daniels received his start in professional baseball with Bloomington, N. J., of the class "D" North Atlantic League, in 1946.

The reason that Tannersville, regular season title holder in the Pocono Mountains Basketball League, is unable to obtain the Pocono High school court for the opening game of its playoff series with Tobyhanna is that the Junior class has scheduled play practice for every night this week in the gym, which also doubles as the auditorium. The Units may be the team with the smallest name in the senior division of this year's Gold Medal Tournament, but reports making the rounds indicate that the club may be long on talent.

Jim Frailey, former Stroudsburg High great, has formed the club and it reportedly contains such cage material as Bob Seip and Lloyd "Sonny" Woodling, formerly of Stroudsburg and Pocono High respectively. The Eagles were forced to use a patched up team to go through with its Industrial League contest at the Monroe County YMCA last night. However, the Eagles came up with a comparatively wide margin of victory over Deerhead Inn. Harry Warner is off the sick list once again and leaves for Myrtle Beach, S. C. on Sunday, for spring training with the Boston Braves farm hands.

Government Charges IBC Of New York, Illinois With Monopolizing Championship Ring Shows

New York (AP) — The government filed a civil anti-trust suit yesterday against the International Boxing Club of New York and Illinois, charging the group with conspiring to monopolize championship fights in the United States.

Charges were brought against James D. Norris of New York and Arthur M. Wirtz of Chicago, owners of the IBC, and the Madison Square Garden Corp. of New York. Both Norris and Wirtz contended their business was "strictly legal."

"As far as we are concerned we've acted on the advice of counsel who said all our actions were perfectly legal," said Norris, in Miami Beach, Fla., where he is vacationing. "If the government finds otherwise, we'll just have to change."

In Chicago, Wirtz said: "It is my understanding that personal service contracts are exempt from the anti-trust law.

"From a purely personal angle, I can't understand why we should be sued for putting our bouts on television, while the National Football League was sued for not putting their games on television."

A government anti-trust suit is pending against the National Football League for restricting television of its games.

The IBC is accused of controlling the sale of radio, television and motion picture rights to the contests and of obtaining exclusive use of principal arenas in New York, Chicago and other large cities.

The complaint further says the defendants obtained contracts from champions and leading contenders in all major weight divisions requiring the fighters to box exclusively for the IBC.

The IBC, which took over its dominant position in bigtime boxing three years ago, has contracts with every world champion from featherweight to heavyweight guaranteeing the organization two title fights a year from each.

The IBC says these champions are permitted to sell their wares elsewhere. Ezzard Charles, former heavyweight champion, and Sugar Ray Robinson, middleweight king, have made numerous appearances for other promoters although under contract to the IBC.

Besides New York's Madison Square Garden, the IBC controls the sport in Chicago Stadium, Detroit's Olympia and St. Louis Arena.

Johnson Wins Split Verdict Over Henry

Philadelphia (AP) — Young Harold Johnson, Philadelphia light heavyweight who was counted out of boxing two years ago because of a serious back injury, scored a startling upset last night by winning a split decision over Clarence Henry, the nation's third ranking heavyweight title contender. Johnson weighed 178 and Henry 186½ for the ten rounder at the Arena.

Few in the crowd of 6,343—they paid $25.720—gave Johnson a pre-fight chance. The betting fraternity thought so little of the local Negro boxer's chances, they didn't even quote any odds. It was supposed to be a matter of whether Johnson could stay the limit with the fast and hard punching Henry, who recently disposed of both young Bob Baker and Bob Satterfield via the knockout route.

Good Start And that's the way it looked in the opening round as Henry drew blood from Johnson's nose and belted him freely with sharp left jabs and smashing rights. In the second round Henry staggered Johnson with a fast left to the body and a long right to the face. But Johnson held on and from that point on seemed to gain both energy and courage. He had taken Henry's Sunday punches and was still standing.

Johnson, winner of 34 bouts in 38 pro fights, received the nod from Judge Lou Tress and Referee Zach Clayton by the identical card of 5-4-1. Judge Max Daroff awarded Henry the bout 5-2-3.

The Associated Press scored the 23-year-old Philadelphia as the winner 5-3-2.

Pocono Mountains League May Increase Size To Twelve Clubs

Bartonsville—Two six-team divisions will make up the Pocono Mountains Baseball league during the coming campaign, providing a twelfth club can be found, it was decided last night at the regular monthly meeting of the circuit here at the Bartonsville hotel, at which 40 interested parties were present.

Readers and Tobyhanna were officially taken into the circuit for the 1952 campaign at last night's meeting, to round out the ten team circuit. However, Pocono Lake wants to return to the fold, after dropping out last year, the group was informed. This prompted the 12-team movement, providing one more club can be obtained.

Either Newfoundland or Gouldsboro may be the twelfth club in the circuit.

Other Entries In addition to Readers and Tobyhanna, these clubs officially in the league for the 1952 campaign are Bushkill, Tannersville, Kunkletown, Saylorsburg, West End A. C., Barrett, Ananook and Lake Harmony.

Walt Stem, umpire-in-chief of the circuit, was appointed by Clinton Getz, league president, to obtain an umpiring association for the loop. Stem will also be in charge of assigning the umpires for games.

A special meeting of the league will be held at the Lake House, Saylorsburg, on Monday, March 31, at which time the 12-team league and the umpiring problems will be further discussed.

The adoption of a baseball and insurance was discussed at the gathering.

Pocono Lake was the only team not represented and Getz was in charge of the business session.

Mary and Bill Cassati, proprietors of Bartonsville hotel, served a buffet luncheon for those attending the meeting.

Thursday Set As Deadline For Admission

Preliminary plans for the annual Gold Medal Basketball Tournament to be staged at the Monroe County YMCA beginning next Monday, were completed last night at a meeting of the tournament committee, at the YMCA. The committee decided that the first seven players on the Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg High school cage machines must play in the senior division, although the remainder of the squads may take part in the junior division, if they so desire.

It was also decided that each player must wear a number for the first time in the tournament. An unlimited number of teams will be allowed in each division, and no restraining line will be used during the course of play.

The deadline for entering the tournament has been listed at 6 p. m. Thursday, with the committee scheduled to meet at 7:30 p. m. on the same day.

Officials Dick Dean, Dick Lee, Jim Frawley and Bill Schmidt have been chosen to officiate throughout the tournaments, in both brackets.

The senior division at the present time is made up of the Sherman Theater, Vets, Awning Men, Tannersville, Pocono Garden Lodge, Units and Deerhead Inn. The Eagles withdrew from action last night. The junior division currently sports ten clubs, namely the Cadet, Coolbaugh, Huskies, Barrett, Bullets, Cramer's, Cut Rate, Penn Dell, Nash Motors, DeVivo's Shoe Repair, Bogart Brothers, Shopping Center Five from Pocono Pines, and Summa's Clippers.

Vets, Eagles Take Measure Of Mower, Deerhead Inn Foes

Veterans of Foreign Wars and the Eagles came up with victories in the Industrial league at the Monroe County YMCA last night. The Vets took the measure of Worthington Mower, 80-41, in the opening half of the doubleheader, while the Eagles flew over Deerhead Inn in the nightcap, 61-41.

The Vets trailed Worthington Mower by two points at the end of the first period, but it was the last time that the VFW five was to be on the short end of the count, as the maroon and gray clad club completely dominated the game the remainder of the distance.

No Doubt Deerhead Inn never could keep up with the Eagles in the second contest, as the Eagles led at half-time, 35-26. However, Deerhead did show its best brand of basketball in the second and third periods, but the Eagles were in complete control throughout.

Paul Fish led the Vets to victory with 22 points, while Jack Newell, with 20 markers, was the big offensive gun for the Eagles.

PGL is also scheduled to oppose the Scranton YMCA quintet tomorrow, on the latter's home court. Scranton won both meetings of the two teams last year, when PGL was known as Podunk University.

Biddy Basketball List Cut

Fifteen players still remain from the original list of 29 Biddy Basketball league stars selected to try for positions on the all-star team that will represent Monroe county in a Biddy Basketball league tournament at the Scranton Catholic Youth Center.

Williams Halts Rival Baltimore (AP) — Former light-weight champion Ike Williams knocked out Johnny Cunningham with a stiff left uppercut in one minute, 50 seconds of the fifth round here last night.

Next practice session is listed for tomorrow, at 4:15 p. m.

Majors, Coast League To Discuss Problems

Los Angeles (AP) — The situation may be a little strained today when representatives of six major league clubs and the eight teams of the Pacific Coast League meet here to discuss spring training problems.

There may be a chill in the air because the coast club owners recently voted to bar major league teams from playing each other in PCL parks, beginning next spring.

The majors and PCL representatives are meeting in separate

Catty Meets Reading At Hershey Today

By Ben French Harrisburg (AP) — Reading and Williamsport have the manzied assignment of trying to spoil the success stories of the amazing Catasauqua Rough Riders and Swoyersville Sailors.

Reading, District Three champion, takes on the Rough Riders from District 11 tonight at Hershey while Williamsport, District Four winner, meets Swoyersville, District Two, at Lewisburg in Eastern class "A" preliminary inter-district games.

In the west, Meadville from District Ten scraps with Pittsburgh Westinghouse, District Eight, at Pitt Field House in inter-district play while unbeaten Punxsutawney and strong Bradford settle District Nine honors at Kane.

Somerset, District Five, and Westmont, District Six, complete the preliminaries tomorrow night at Johnstown.

High Rate Catasauqua and Swoyersville currently are the hottest quintets in the eastern region in the month-long class "A" Pennsylvania public high school basketball eliminations.

The Rough Riders leached their peak Saturday night at Philadelphia when they eliminated Bethlehem's East Penn Conference champions, 56-52. That ran their winning streak to 15 straight and their season's record to 23-3.

Catasauqua has been scoring at a 73.6-point clip per game and went over the 100-point mark on two occasions. Four regulars, and three reserves hit above the six-foot mark. Catty's only loss this season under Coach Bob Mushrush were to Bethlehem by two points, Allentown by 12 points and Whitehall by nine points.

Reading, winner of the Central Penn league, will counter with a team that won 20 and lost six during the season. The Red Knights scored at the rate of 53.7 points per game.

Graziano Faces Another Charge

Chicago (AP) — The Illinois Athletic Commission yesterday heard a charge that "Rocky" Graziano had an "undercover manager" who recently was convicted of murder. The charge was made by Tom Duggan, TV-radio commentator, who appeared before the commission to do "a public service."

Reason Duggan contended that a middle-weight title bout between champion Ray Robinson and Graziano at Chicago Stadium April 16 should not be approved because of Graziano's relations with Eddie Coco of Brooklyn.

The three-member commission, however, approved the title fight after hearing Graziano testify under oath that he broke off with Coco last January.

Yanks Stretch Winning Streak To Five Games Against Junior Loop Foes By Downing Senators

St. Petersburg (AP) — The New York Yankees continued to sweep their American League opponents in the Grapefruit League yesterday, walloping the Washington Senators, 8-5.

This was the world champions' seventh victory in nine games. Both the losses came at the hands of teams in the National League.

Against teams in their own circuit the Yankees have won five straight, topping the Boston Red Sox twice, the Philadelphia Athletics and the Detroit Tigers previous to yesterday.

Manager Casey Stengel started veteran righthander Allie "Double No-Hit" Reynolds for the first time this spring and he held the Nats to three hits and two runs in a four-inning stint. Jim McDonald, righthander obtained in a winter deal with the St. Louis Browns, followed Reynolds for three frames and rookie left-hander Bill Miller finished.

Outfielders Hank Bauer and Archie Wilson and infielder Jerry Coleman led a 16-hit attack on three Washington pitchers. Each belted three hits, Wilson driving home four runners with his triple and two singles.

Top-Seeded Quintet Battles Scranton Rival

Troy, N. Y. (AP) — Top-seeded Siena and the defending champion, St. Francis of Brooklyn, swing in action tonight in the fourth annual National Catholic Invitation Basketball Tournament.

Siena tackles Scranton and St. Francis faces Lemoine of Syracuse as the quarterfinals open.

No games were scheduled last night.

Winners

Scranton outlasted St. Mary's of Minnesota, 85-78, Sunday night while St. Francis of Philadelphia trimmed Loyola of Baltimore, 66-52.

Second-seeded Marquette and St. Joseph's of Philadelphia, ranked fourth, see their first action Wednesday. Marquette plays Iona of New Rochelle, and St. Joe's tangles with St. Francis (Pa.).

Dauthuille Triumphs

Paris (AP) — Laurent Dauthuille, a leading French middleweight, last night hammered out a ten-round decision over Norman Hayes, Boston Negro.

Dauthuille, 28, weighed 159 pounds, Hayes, 20, tipped the scales at 161½.

Writers Name Arizin Top Pro Cager

New York (AP) — Paul Arizin, 23-year-old second-year star of the Philadelphia Warriors, was voted professional basketball's "player of the year" yesterday by the Metropolitan Basketball Writers Association.

Leading scorer of the National Basketball Association, the six-foot-four, 185-pound Philadelphia succeeds Minneapolis' big George Mikan, whose four-year point-making reign he also cracked.

Davis Trophy

Arizin will be awarded the Sam Davis Trophy, given yearly to the league's most valuable performer at the Met association's dinner March 30.

The Warrior sharpshooter scored 1,675 points during the past season, an average of 25.4 a game. Mikan scored 1,523, an average of 23.8.

Dodgers To Pay Athletics In Full

Vero Beach, Fla. (AP) — When the Philadelphia A's took the field here yesterday with only two regulars, Eddie Jooss and Hank Majeski, in the lineup, Charlie Dressen announced that only two regulars would accompany the Brooklyn Dodgers to play the American Leaguers at West Palm Beach today.

They will be Peeewe Reese and Andy Pafko, Reese was singled out because Dressen wants to look at Don Zimmer, Fort Worth shortstop prospect, in a Brooklyn game.

One Game Scheduled

One basketball game is slated for the Monroe County YMCA today, with MIU and the Sherman Theater clashing at 7:15 p.m.

Carter To Risk Lightweight Title Against Salas In April

Los Angeles (AP) — Lightweight Champion Jimmy Carter yesterday agreed to defend his title here April 1 against Lauro Salas, California's featherweight kingpin who only this month decided to campaign in the 135-pound ranks.

Second Defense

The 15-round fight will be the second title defense for the New York boxer who whipped Art Aragon here in November. Last week in a non-title fight he copped a disputed decision over Luther Rawlings, currently the number one contender.

The 24-year-old Salas has been campaigning since 1947 when he arrived from Monterrey, Mex. He shows best in the big-chip battles and although not ranked among the lightweights—he's fought only a few of them—he's been near the top in the 126-pound class.

County League To Hold Meeting

Tannersville — Otto "Junior" Mills, president of the Monroe County Athletic association, last night announced that there would be an important meeting of the association today, here at Pocono High school, at 7:30 p. m.

Request

Mills has asked all principals and coaches in the Monroe County league to be present, if at all possible.

An election of officers is also expected to be held during tonight's business session.

Jointures Of Schools To Be Aired

The Monroe County Council of Parents and Teachers has scheduled an open meeting for March 31 at 8 p.m. at Pocono Township High school, Tannersville, when J. Hugh Henderson, adviser to school business division of the State Department of Public Instruction will be the guest speaker.

He will discuss the possibilities and problems of jointures between school districts in Monroe County.

Since every school district is participating jointure or some other type of cooperative solution to their common problems, either immediately or in the near future, this meeting was planned to allow questions and answers on these problems.

It was planned with the cooperation of John C. Litts, county superintendent of schools, School directors, teachers, PTA groups and others interested are invited.

The Mason and Dixon Line was surveyed by two Englishmen, Chas. Mason and Jeremiah Dixon.

Pocono Aeros Stage Meet, Award Prizes

The Pocono Aeros held their beauty contest for model airplanes last night in East Stroudsburg high school gymnasium.

Prize winners in the three major categories were announced following the close of the competition by William Shelley, secretary of the organization. Hal Hamlen, owner and manager of the twin-borough airport north of East Stroudsburg presented the awards.

Winning contestants are listed below in order of competition and placement.

Solid scale models: First, Earl Clark; second, Donald Setzer; third, Robert Posten.

Junior one-half A flying models: First, James Runney; second, William Carlton and third, Graydon Fenner.

Senior one-half A flying models: First, Elmer Detrick; second, Robert Seip; Robert Lambert and Thomas Tredinnick tying for third place.

Prizes of model equipment and kits were awarded in all three places in each division.

Judges for the competition were Hal Hamlen, Robert Hawik, Stroudsburg High school Industrial art instructor, and John Kulp.

Feltham Funeral Rites Conducted

Services for Ernest Walter Feltham, 60, of 1635 Pokona Ave., Stroudsburg, were held yesterday at Lanterman funeral home, East Stroudsburg, with Rev. Harold C. Eaton officiating.

Burial was at Seese Hill cemetery, Canadensis. Pallbearers were LeRoy Mikels, Joseph Mikels, Dr. Grady Moore, Raymond McConnell, Guy Price, Walter Bowman.

Treasury Position

Washington (AP) — The position of the treasury March 13: Net budget receipts $147,587,574.04, budget expenditures $231,912,773.56, cash balance $3,814,709,368.96, total debt $260,232,633,272.84, increase over previous day $9,332,116.47.

"The President has submitted a staggering budget of $85,444,000,000 which is about $14,400,000,000 more than the Federal government hopes to collect in taxes in fiscal 1953, notwithstanding the recent increase in taxes," Klein added.

"The economies proposed by NAM reduce that figure by $14,802,000,000—or a little more than sufficient to balance the budget—and by enabling the nation to 'pay as we go' for military and civilian expenditures, would tend to prevent further inflation," he said.

The association's proposals, contained in a report of the NAM's Government Economy Committee on the President's fact that appropriations have been far in excess of actual spending; that large appropriations and unexpended balances have a "demoralizing effect" and promote lavishness in the use of government funds. The study showed that excess appropriations of $38,740,000,000 were carried over from fiscal 1951 into 1952. The estimated carry-over from fiscal 1952 into 1953 is $61,280,000,000 but despite this huge total, new obligatory authority of $84,260,000,000 for 1953 is asked—bringing the grand total for 1953 spending to $145,549,000,000.

Noting that military expenditures will be 73.5 per cent of total spending in 1953, the NAM's study said:

"In view of this fact, it is apparent that there can be no substantial reduction of the budget total without including military spending in the cuts. Heretofore it has usually been assumed that the military part of the budget was sacrosanct and not to be questioned by civilians."

The association said that there are quite different standards for military spending in all-out war, or complete mobilization and in a period of defense preparation short of all-out war, during which there is to be a steady accumulation of military material."

It was recalled that Charles E. Wilson, director of defense mobilization, said in his report of last January 1: "There is no reason, in a long-term program, to go 'all-out' for the production of the whole range of military items which a full mobilization would require."

Emphasized in the association's case for budget economies was Easton where they had attended the funeral of Mrs. Starner's father.

Mrs. Elizabeth Reichers, Mrs. A. T. Blakeslee Sr., Frederick and Clarissa Blakeslee were Sunday dinner guests of the A. T. Blakeslee Jr. family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schuler, of Wilkes-Barre called on Mr. and Mrs. William Wrick, Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Gladys Taylor of Pocono Lake, is working at George's general store.

Mrs. Peter Hawk and daughter Shirley are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Gene Gross of New Jersey.

John Bush is suffering from an infected hand.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVere Starner celebrated their 11th wedding anniversary Saturday, March 8. They spent the day visiting relatives in Bethlehem and Hellertown.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wrick and son Billy and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Bowman of Norristown were Sunday afternoon callers of Mr. Wrick's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Wrick of Fern Ridge.

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Blakeslee Jr., and son David, Mrs. Reichers, Mrs. A. T. Blakeslee Sr., Fred Blakeslee and Josephine Smith of Pocono Pines called on the Jerome Blakeslee family of Brodheadsville Sunday afternoon.

March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Fairly encouraging aspects for routine, personal duties. Better stay wide-awake. Late hours of day things may change quickly; be ready to act.

April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—More with caution, during this period. Brook no deception, understand what you are about. Don't act on impulse.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini)—A day to use for reviewing what has gone before, what you expect to accomplish and how. Have family, family friends in mind. Be temperate.

June 21 to July 20 (Cancer)—Waste no time in fusing over decisions that should be made quickly. Most financial, business affairs will require much tact.

July 21 to August 20 (Leo)—Guard against possibly harmful agencies that could interfere with your rights, work or principles. Watch temper, be calm, make no rash promises you cannot keep.

August 21 to September 20 (Virgo)—Take it easier if you have been pressing. Put aside worrying; see your life in lighter mood. We all have troubles, but God will give the strength to see them through.

September 21 to October 20 (Libra)—Strengthen courage, aspirations; strive to attain higher goals. The law of averages is in your favor, and remember, do not make mistakes. They also succeed bravest and most.

October 21 to November 20 (Scorpio)—Fresh satisfaction in things you like.

NAM's Request For $15-Billion Cut In Federal Budget Would Save Countians $3-Millions

The $15-billion reduction which the National Association of Manufacturers has recommended for President Truman's whopping $85.5-billion budget for 1953, would amount to $95.50 on a per capita basis for every man, woman and child in the nation, or more than $3 million for the 33,773 citizens of Monroe county.

$95.50 times the 13,585 persons in Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg equals a total saving of $1,297,357.50.

This was pointed out yesterday by Frederick H. Klein, Reading manufacturer and NAM regional vice president, who illustrated the recommended economies further by calling attention to the fact that this per-capita saving would amount to more than $1-billion to the people of Pennsylvania, and a figure which is only slightly less than the value of all farm lands and buildings in the state.

"The President has submitted a staggering budget of $85,444,000,000 which is about $14,400,000,000 more than the Federal government hopes to collect in taxes in fiscal 1953, notwithstanding the recent increase in taxes," Klein added.

American Tourists Recount Experiences With Doctors Treating 'Paris Stomach'

Editor's Note: Following is the twenty-second in a series of reports from Britain and Europe by Ruth Haller Ottaway, publisher of The Daily Record. The writer is an experienced journalist and traveler and her reports from abroad in recent years have received a favorable reception by Record readers.

By Ruth Haller Ottaway

Paris—One of us was not up to par. Sympathizing French friends with one accord said, "Ah, you have l'estomac de Paris"—the Paris stomach. This went on until the languid one was convinced that he did have a Paris stomach, whatever that is, filled with Paris green, poison with a skull and cross-bones.

The first doctor, handsome, young and not too disturbed, let fall a few words that sounded like Epsom salts and paregoric. That was plainly saying "Yes" and "No" to the Paris stomach.

Mrs. Ottaway

But he came from one of our finest American medical schools. So we saluted, and thanked him a little prematurely for coming, that is to say before he murmured modestly a most immodest fee. We turned our pockets inside out, paid him, since we probably would never see his handsome face again (D. V.), and he elegantly departed.

"Les douleurs" sounds much better than the startling and plebeian word "pains." "Les douleurs" continued. Loud were the wails and many the groans. Male wails, than which there are none more heart-rending. The female of the species being deadlier than the male, and understanding pain better, asserted herself and found another doctor.

The second doctor, Paris born, came speaking the most delightful English. (No European or Asian would dream of learning to speak American English. It is too open and unspiced. Even Jakob Malik engaged a Bostonian to coach him in English, his idea of the nearest approach to Oxford English in our country.)

We were told that the second doctor was Canadian, no small place. The bonds between Canada and the United States are so close that Canada is almost home to an American in Paris. The physician to human ills, real and imaginary, produced all sorts of instruments—the "say-ah" stethoscope, the blood-pressure syringe and what not. We both began to feel better at once. After questioning the patient, he proved his French lineage by saying cheerfully, "Ah, you have a stomach." We always had thought that to be the case.

Then the doctor brightened and at the climax of his French volubility we heard, "Ah, you also have a liver." This discovery made everything right especially when he said that he did not wish to make it work at all, nor the poor, tired stomach, nor any part of the malade's anatomy. "You must not take Epsom salts," said he, "or anything like it—and paregoric—No, No, indeed."

The patient must fast. He must eat absolutely nothing for 40 hours—then noodles!

It certainly is far from funny to be hiding from the Germans in Paris and to have only noodles to eat for two weeks, but when friends here told us of this hardship, our sympathy had in it a smile. Moral: Never stock up on Noodles. But now the noodles were upon us.

Our nice doctor informed us that the French are much more sensible than the Americans. The French use the metric system, everything in tens. "Now his fever is 101 degrees, you say. Voila! This is 36.8." We were lost. Where had the metric system wandered?

"You know," he continued, "we French list the drugs used in a medicine on the bottle, but not the Americans." Protesting that we had also such a law was in vain. "Now here is my telephone number on the prescription blank. You can call me." "But if a chausseur takes it to the pharmacy, I will not have it," I replied. "Yes, you will. There are no opiates in these drugs. When there are none, the prescription is returned to you. When there are, the prescription is retained." So many ways to cross a stream!

"Thank heaven," as our femme

To WHOM IT MAY CONCERN

We are interested in knowing if there are enough able folks (55 years or older) who would like to be salespeople in our store on a part time basis . . . possibly Saturday nights 5:30 P.M. to 9:30 P.M.—or two nights a week. Perhaps not at all.

Of course, it would be necessary for us to give a few training lessons.

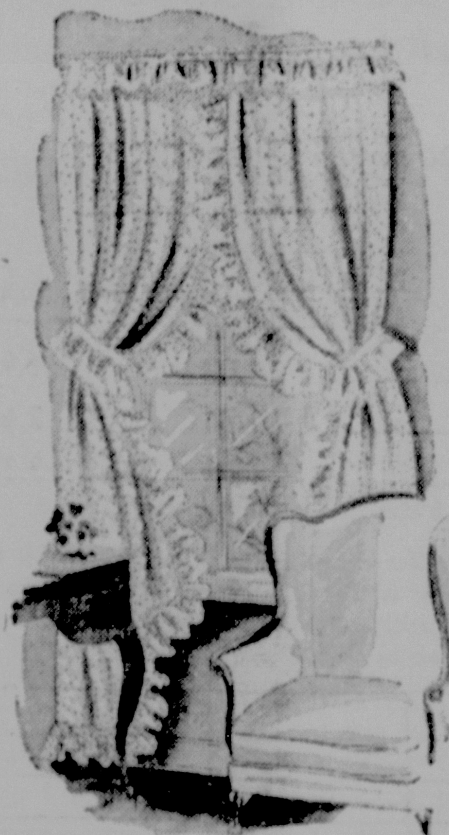

We will be glad to have applications from women or men who are 55 or older, who are in good health, who enjoy meeting people and selling merchandise.
